Update

As of 2022/04/18 the original callout document made against spacebuilder has been completely erased and replaced with an apology message (seen below). However, this response has still been released as they do not refute, explain, or clarify why their document was wrong.

While the New Years call including spacebuilder happened, others were intentionally extorted and misconstrued by my source without my knowledge. I simply published the information I was given. I apologize for not vetting and properly processing the information before publishing this document. As publisher, all of the blame falls on me.

We just saw what we thought were damning messages and did what we thought was morally correct. We had no agenda against Spacebuilder before seeing the messages which shocked many of us to the core.

I hope you can make your own judgment based off the information you were provided with. I must take my leave.

The accuser's response

After a lengthy group chat discussion between Charisma and spacebuilder on 18th April, the accusers have admitted that they were wrong to publish and support the document, however they are refusing to accept responsibility for borderline ruining his reputation. (Provided below are screenshots to summarize their discussion).

shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn 18.04.2022

thats what i was telling Jake in voice call, my primarily goal here is to end it what's done has already been done if you do wish to publish that and protect your image from whatever, then fine but i don't plan on doing anything further i don't have to like you and you don't have to like me but this is good for neither party

Salmon 18.04.2022

it isn't about not taking it further you and everybody else complicit slandered my entire reputation based on dubious and rushed evidence and spent the rest of that time turning every single stone up around me to get more and more dirt and reaffirm your beliefs it goes way beyond just stopping

shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn 18.04.2022

yes and i've acknowledged that and whats done has already been done

Salmon 18.04.2022

if you want to believe youre doing any kind of the right thing then you and the other parties involved have to act on rectifying everything wrong with your document and going back on statements and allegations that you now believe you were wrong about

shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn 18.04.2022

this is true so i don't know how we can go back and rectify the past or what you want us to do

@shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn this is true so i don't know how we can go back and rectify the past

Salmon 18.04.2022

you still did it though i want you to edit the original document and clarify everything properly this time you have caused so much distress for me over the past few days and ezcha has truly hit a new low with his petty grudges and manipulation and he is the only person here who i think is absolutely doing this maliciously and my family has also been the subject of a fuck ton of harassment and death threats and mocking my brother and me the reputation of brick hill is steadily ruined by this and while i completely agree i have made some big fucking mistakes i have been doing everything in my power to work against my own mental illnesses so that i have more control over myself and my intrusive thoughts and other behaviours like manic depression and alcoholism in 12 hours you and everybody in that group chat did probably the most damaging thing you could have done to me and the platform 12 hours is little to no preparation for something like that hell it has so far taken us just under two days to put together our counter document because we are putting so much care into the information we are presenting i know emotions were intense for you and everybody involved but that is so fucking careless to do that if i were completely innocent of any wrongdoing we would still be in this same situation because of your fucking negligence on this you don't have to like me and i will fully respect all of your opinions but facts are facts and that document was a shitfest of manipulation

i refuse to feel guilty for what i did, if that's your goal then it's not going to work. i understand that you have a history of mental illness or whatever else but it's also not a valid crutch to somehow justify any of what you did. I am willing to modify the document for you, but you'll need to send me exactly what you want me to say because my role was simply to pass on the information i was given

I have never supported the people harassing your family and I don't know why you'd think that Something was going to be said eventually and I was the messenger

I could've been anyone else, I have no personal stake in it other than my disgust at what you did so I'm not sure what you want me to put on the document

Salmon 18.04.2022

why are you absolving yourself of all responsibility

Salmon 18.04.2022

why are you absolving yourself of all responsibility you aren't just the messenger you put together and published the entire document in those 12 hours and by doing that you took the responsibility that everybody should trust that you know everything in that document is true if you were just a messenger then ezcha could have written it just as well as you could you don't have to feel guilty for wanting to expose someone who you thought was a pedophile but you should absolutely recognise that you went about this in the complete worst way possible

shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn 18.04.2022

I know that

 Salmon you aren't just the messenger you put together and published the entire document in those 12 hours and...

Salmon 18.04.2022

you put your name and yasin's name at the top of the document as an indication that this was true and could be trusted because you were both hugely influential on brick hill

you should have absolutely known that everything in that document was true to the fucking periods on sentences you are not just a messenger you are wholly responsible for almost every word in that document

brb i am getting water again

brb i am getting water again

shaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaawn 18.04.2022

we should've done it better so you can vent at me all you fucking want but you and i both know what's done is done you are yelling at a brick wall for as much good as it's going to get you do you want to help fix the document or no

Ezcha has also given a separate response to the situation which is shown in the screenshots below that have been provided by a former staff member at Brick Hill, as it does not appear that Ezcha has (at the time of writing this) made this announcement to a large audience.

However despite this he has still asserted that he accidentally gave false information about what happened and mistakenly put screenshots in the wrong place, omitted relevant information, and cropped out relevant information that would have discredited his points.

On 20th April, Ezcha tried to convince people that he did not do this over a grudge. Despite this, he opted to be the sole supplier of the evidence against spacebuilder.

If Ezcha thought that him holding a grudge against spacebuilder would have impeded the integrity of the original document then why did he choose to hide that information instead of letting the other people involved provide evidence instead.

The Full Story

As of recently, Ezcha has admitted that calling him a pedophile was extreme and wasn't the truth. Charisma has also admitted that they took Ezcha's word without question because of his respected place in the community and personal relationship with spacebuilder.

Despite these changes, this document is being created to disprove Ezcha's now-widely believed claims. Ezcha is not a trustworthy person, and considering he withheld this information for months, only to release his statement and then retract it two days later, is evident of foul play being involved. Ezcha has a history of falsely accusing people as pedophiles based on his opinion of them (See “Ezcha is not a reliable source”), and he should not be trusted with these accusations due to how poorly he handles them and the way he manipulates and selectively drip-feeds information to his peers to support his narrative.

We do not blame anybody for believing Ezcha’s narrative. The title “Spacebuilder is a pedophile” is incredibly upsetting, however this becomes much harder to believe when we look at all of the evidence, and especially with Ezcha now retracting his original statement.

It is worth noting that Ezcha most likely preyed on the emotional distress and trust in him that this caused those who he told, particularly Charisma and yasin, and their shock and disgust in what he had told them aided in their false trust and backing of his claims in what they believed would protect the platform and its community.

spacebuilder’s side

Ezcha has deliberately put images out of order and cropped images to hide messages that support spacebuilder’s story, leaving out crucial information. This is in order to build his false narrative, an extreme accusation that he has used before with little or dubious evidence to support his claims (see “Ezcha is not a reliable source” for more context).

Ezcha also continues to lie about the only mentioned victim in the document, which she herself has admitted is not the case, which he completely dismisses and omits any mention of this from the original document (evidence posted below).

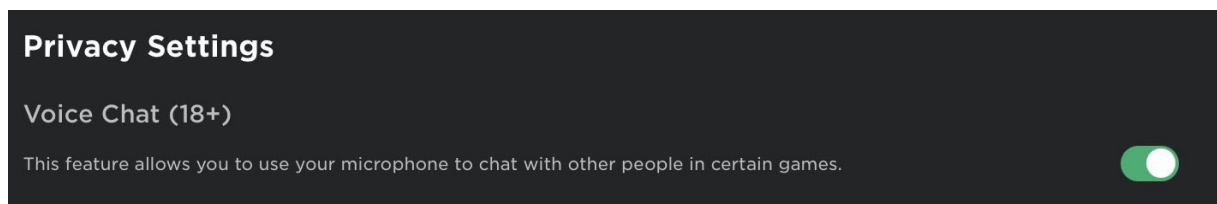

(Note that after multiple individuals have contacted Ilisha, she has confirmed she is not and was never a victim.)

spacebuilder met Ilisha while in a group call with others, where they met her in a Roblox voice chat while playing the game “Mic up” on New Year’s Eve.

Roblox initially released Roblox voice chat for people over the age of 18 ONLY, and only later made it available for anybody over the age of 13 that had valid identification. For many people who do not regularly play Roblox, this change went unnoticed. As such, spacebuilder was unaware of the updated rules and so was not under the impression that the people he was talking to could be underaged.

Here is a screenshot from when it was 18+

Instead, Ezcha ignored all credibility of spacebuilder being misinformed, even when screenshots from the night of the incident show spacebuilder reassuring Ezcha that Roblox voice chat was 18+. The only evidence that Ezcha supplies towards spacebuilder’s accusations are messages from when he was extremely drunk and under the impression that she was an adult.

(See “False and manipulated information” for more context to this)

As well as this, spacebuilder had been heavily drinking alcohol as it was New Year's Eve, and had not set out to join a Roblox voice chat until his friend called their group chat, at which point spacebuilder was already intoxicated and his decision-making skills were skewed.

A symptom of being blackout drunk is the inability to register information that they received more than a few minutes ago, and as such spacebuilder would have no memory of what happened just moments before.

It is worth noting that just days after these events, spacebuilder commented in the same group chat that due to a prescription error he had been off of his medication for a few days and it was causing withdrawal symptoms. This, coupled with the difficulties of it being the anniversary of his brother passing away as well as his drinking, led to highly exceptional circumstances which caused a severe lack of reasoning.

While spacebuilder has admitted that drinking this much was highly irresponsible of him (which will be addressed in greater detail in "The Inappropriate Comments" further below), the following morning when he was sober he immediately apologized for his behavior to Ilisha and those who were in the group chat. This occurrence was not out of pedophilia but rather an irresponsible misunderstanding.

On April 16th, Charisma opted to privately interview Ilisha, the alleged victim, who repeatedly affirmed that spacebuilder did not request inappropriate pictures after learning her age and had never had an inappropriate interaction with him after this, became increasingly assertive and even frustrated by the omission of the majority of their interview from the document except for a single screenshot that was cropped to remove context. All of this information has been purposefully excluded from their original document to back up Ezcha's narrative, to the point where they are deliberately omitting necessary information and exploiting the people that they are pretending to protect.

The Inappropriate Comments

The other screenshots provided in the original document were comments that spacebuilder had made during 2019 and 2020 to friends in group chats who understood that these were jokes.

While these comments are definitely immature and inappropriate, in the years following this spacebuilder has been diagnosed with multiple disorders and has made a great deal of effort to treat these.

While the exact disorders will not be disclosed, we will discuss them openly. Since receiving therapy as a direct result of the diagnosis, spacebuilder's therapist has noted that his impulsive remarks were most likely due to this and they have been working to control this. Due to the stigmatization of these disorders we will not go into great detail about them, but they were the direct cause of the way he spoke and the remarks that he made.

Most importantly, spacebuilder recognizes that these comments are wrong, and the therapy and medication has helped him improve himself as a person and have for the most part enabled him to manage intrusive thoughts much more appropriately. Living with untreated and undiagnosed mental illnesses is debilitating and difficult to live with, and as such unfortunately spacebuilder did use alcohol to mitigate this. Of course this is absolutely not appropriate, however we can easily tell you that receiving help for mental issues is much harder than it sounds.

These comments are not, and should not be representative of spacebuilder's character. He knows that the remarks were in poor taste, but he does not believe anything that was said and does not want to act on anything that was said, and they were caused by uncontrolled symptoms of disorders.

The fact that spacebuilder has been able to operate a platform as large as this while dealing with various mental disorders and also managing targeted harassment for personal tragedies in his life with almost no controversy in the past five years is a testament to how determined he is to better himself as a person and ensure that he is providing everybody with the type of leadership that they deserve.

Ezcha is not a reliable source

Ezcha, who is the sole provider of ALL of the information given to Charisma and yasin in the original document, is not a reliable source. There have been multiple past occurrences where Ezcha has accused innocent users as pedophiles.

There have been occurrences where Ezcha has accused innocent users as pedophiles. Cool (who also goes by "pika" and was 15 at the time) was joking with his friend (14 at the time), when Ezcha and yasin said the jokes were "creepy" and accused him of being a pedophile. Cool asked his friend if they thought it was creepy to which they said no. Cool told Ezcha but he didn't listen and told Cool to not contact their friend about it, causing Cool's Brick Hill account to get banned by Charisma and banned from the Brick Hill Discord server by yasin. This caused users to be under the impression he was a pedophile causing a lot of harassment.

In a similar fashion to the accusations against spacebuilder, Ezcha retracted the pedophile accusations against Cool, admitted that he took it too far, and apologized. An apology is not enough, though, when you accuse people under baseless claims with one of the WORST attributes that someone can have and then spread that information to everybody they know, essentially ruining their reputation.

He blatantly ignored Cool's friend when she told him that the jokes were not harmful or serious. There is no validity behind most of his pedophile accusations; he uses the bare minimum of proof and constantly lies about this to support his narrative. (Evidence provided below)

pika Today at 2:16 PM

I posted a meme about peanut in her private invite only server, one which she had said in the past she didn't find really unsettling or anything

Yasin and maxed then yelled at me for it, I said "real" sarcastically then said "yea" to maxed saying "real as in you made it"

I was then banned from bh discord as well as bh for "targeted sexual harassment and forging screenshots of a minor and adult"

Which is very extreme

But then I got banned on ezchas mc server for being a pedo

Charisma banned me on bh site for it and Yasin was the one who told me why

I asked peanut if it made her uncomfortable since thats what ezcha and maxed where telling me, and peanut said no and even asked for me to be unbanned

When I showed ezcha what peanut said

I was told to not contact peanut again

Because she "didn't understand the situation"

This caused many bh users to believe that me, a 15 year old at the time, was a pedophile

It took a long time for them to change that and say I wasn't a pedo but was just a creep

But that had basically ruined any chance I had to get rehired since most users were under the impression I was a creep/pedophile forging screenshots

It was difficult to explain my side when I was told peanuts side shouldn't have been credited

There are similar instances of this, and while Ezcha did not take other accusations as far as he did for Cool, they are still incredibly serious accusations to make based on little to no evidence.

Ezcha would make remarks about the user Sythe being a pedophile with absolutely no evidence to support his claims, with his reasoning being that he found Sythe “weird” and generally disliked him. There is absolutely no reason for Ezcha to be making these claims.

Ezcha's grudge against spacebuilder

Ezcha and spacebuilder have been close friends since 2014, which is why in 2018 he was trusted to become the client developer for Brick Hill after brick-luke had sadly passed away.

Unfortunately during this time pressure increased for Ezcha to meet deadlines for the client development while he also struggled with personal issues (which will not be included in this document unless he is open about them) and as a result the friendship and work-based relationship between Ezcha and spacebuilder became increasingly strained and hostile towards one another.

This came to a head in 2021 where Ezcha lashed out at spacebuilder in a group chat before apologizing to him afterwards in private, admitting to exaggerating some facts and omitting other things so that he could justify his frustration easier. Due to their close friendship, he has also confided in spacebuilder on multiple occasions about his issues with holding personal grudges and attacks against people that he dislikes.

(The chat logs of this have been provided at the end of the document)

This, combined with Ezcha deliberately removing context, disorganising information in the original document, and now retracting his original statement, makes this seem much more like an impulsive and personal attack rather than acting with any intention of protecting people.

Below are screenshots of the document creators discussing how they may be able to personally attack spacebuilder (though please be aware that at this time only Ezcha knew that the information provided was inaccurate).

The image displays two screenshots of a Discord chat log. The chat is set in a dark theme. The participants are Ezcha (orange 'e' icon), y (green 'y' icon), and Etherreal (green 'e' icon). The messages are as follows:

FireCatMagic's response

In their original document spacebuilder has been accused of preying on FireCatMagic's real life friends. This claim is not based on any actual evidence, and after FireCatMagic confronted his friends about spacebuilder, they denied having any inappropriate conduct with him.

The pictured conversation is between FireCatMagic and their long-time friend. She had developed a crush on Spacebuilder and attempted to flirt with him. Spacebuilder immediately told her that it was inappropriate to talk to him like that because she is a child and he is an adult. In this screenshot she confirms that spacebuilder had not been predatory at all.

In the original document, she is referred to as "another victim" with absolutely no proof given. These claims, as you can see in the screenshot provided, were false and were disproven by the supposed victim they're referring to. This is a screenshot from their document where they alleged she was another victim that spacebuilder had preyed on.

As said, this was included in their document with absolutely no proof provided, and despite the document creators contacting FireCatMagic, they did not mention these accusations to him or their friend. This is another false claim created against spacebuilder.

If you thought this was just a one-time thing because Spacebuilder was drunk (not saying that being drunk justifies any of this), you'd be wrong. Through establishing connections with children on Brick Hill, we believe he has assaulted and preyed on even more minors that we don't know about. Here's one we do know of:

A long time Brick Hill member, who has known Spacebuilder personally for several years, introduced his real-life friends to him. This user was a freshman in high school, with Spacebuilder being 18 years old at the time. The red color is the name of the victim, with the blue being the Brick Hill member.

False and manipulated information

Excluded from the screenshot that Ezcha provided in the original document (shown in the left image below) is that spacebuilder was under the impression that voice chats were for adults.

12/31/21

On New Year's Eve, Spacebuilder (Salmon#3473, ID 129703755925946368) had been drinking. He decided to go on Roblox to talk to women and add them to his private group chat, even after Ezcha warned him that the vast majority of ROBLOX users are minors. He then added a 14 year old girl to this group chat, asking her to join the voice call, knowing she was 14:

In the same screenshot above (left image), they also stated that spacebuilder was adding underaged girls to "his private group chat" when it was simply the group chat that he was on a voice call in. This group chat has existed for over a year and this is the only instance where somebody from Roblox was added.

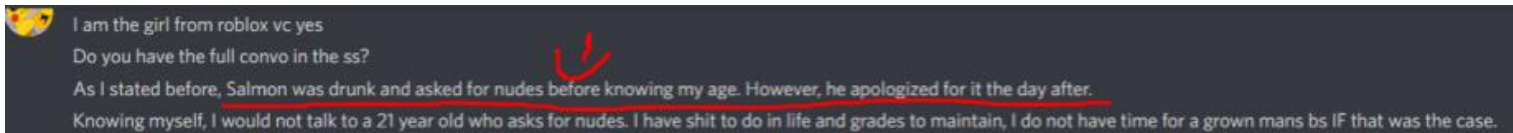

The document is written to imply that this is a group chat that exists solely to privately add and talk to underaged girls, which is a disgusting accusation and is absolutely false.

(note that Sythe and Ezcha have left the group chat at the time this picture was taken and so are no longer on the member list)

Screenshots provided in their original document suggest that spacebuilder knew that Ilisha was underaged before she asked for inappropriate photos, however Ilisha herself confirmed to Charisma in an interview that spacebuilder was not aware of her age prior to this and that he did not ask her after finding out how old she was, which was deliberately excluded from their document.

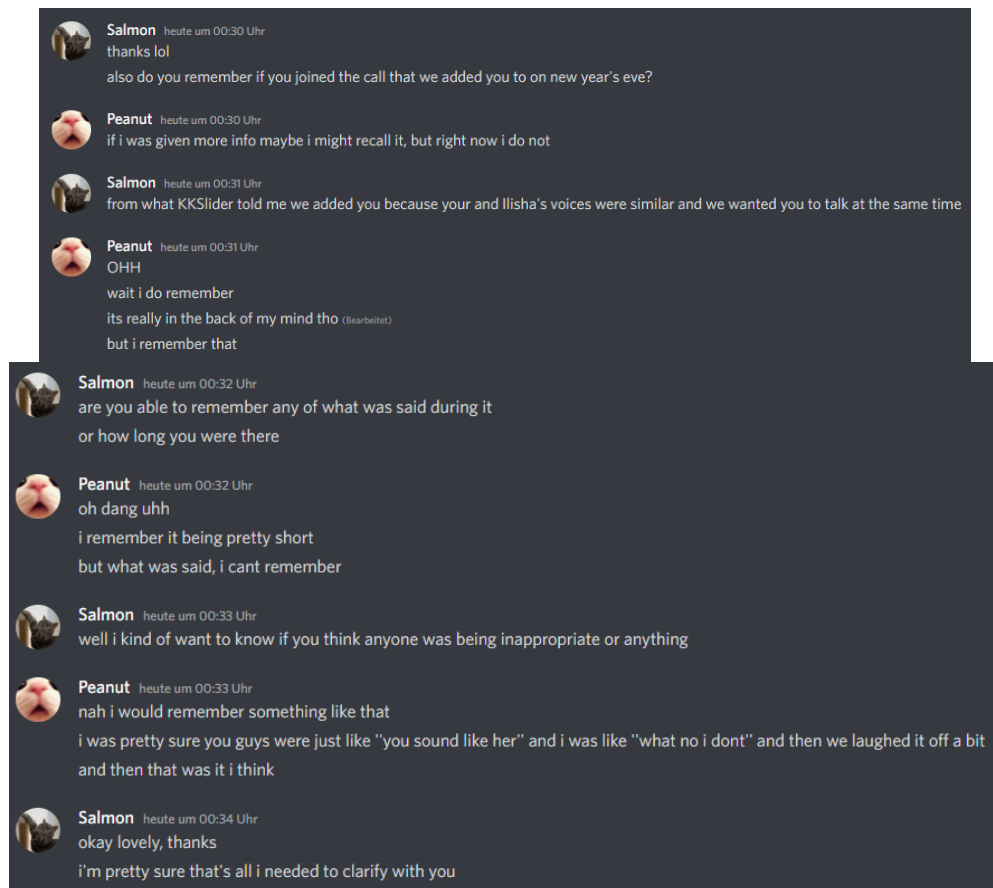

I am the girl from roblox vc yes
Do you have the full convo in the ss?
As I stated before, Salmon was drunk and asked for nudes before knowing my age. However, he apologized for it the day after.
Knowing myself, I would not talk to a 21 year old who asks for nudes. I have shit to do in life and grades to maintain, I do not have time for a grown mans bs IF that was the case.

These messages were excluded from the original document and other messages from their interview were cropped to manipulate what she had said.
(The full chat logs of their interview have been provided at the end of the document. Note that after their interview had ended, Charisma deleted all of the messages that he had sent to her.)

spacebuilder was also accused of adding an underaged girl from the Brick Hill community to the group with the implication that she was added for similar accusations made for Ilisha, and that she was only removed because she was not online at the time.

This is completely untrue and Peanut was not even contacted to confirm or deny whether this was true. Peanut has since responded and confirmed that she did in fact join the voice call and that it was a completely harmless interaction.

Salmon heute um 00:30 Uhr
thanks lol
also do you remember if you joined the call that we added you to on new year's eve?

Peanut heute um 00:30 Uhr
if i was given more info maybe i might recall it, but right now i do not

Salmon heute um 00:31 Uhr

wait i do remember its really in the back of my mind tho (Biarbellet) but i remember that

Salmon heute um 00:32 Uhr
are you able to remember any of what was said during it or how long you were there

Peanut heute um 00:32 Uhr
oh dang uhh
i remember it being pretty short but what was said, i cant remember

Salmon heute um 00:33 Uhr
well i kind of want to know if you think anyone was being inappropriate or anything

Peanut heute um 00:33 Uhr nah i would remember something like that i was pretty sure you guys were just like "you sound like her" and i was like "what no i dont" and then we laughed it off a bit and then that was it i think

Salmon heute um 00:34 Uhr
okay lovely, thanks
i'm pretty sure that's all i needed to clarify with you

Ilisha's response

The only alleged victim that was included in the document was contacted, however as we have already shown, all of the interview with her was excluded from the original document because she continued to assert spacebuilder's innocence and explain that it was a misunderstanding.

They opted to ignore this information and instead take one cropped and misleading message from their interview so that readers of this document would have the implication that they had maintained an inappropriate relationship, when no such relationship existed at all.

To reiterate, this is the only person that they had ever suspected of being a victim, which she denied being, and so it was omitted. Nobody involved in the original document can say that this was a simple mistake when they have deliberately scrubbed their own findings of any information that would support spacebuilder.

As well as this, in their original document they attached a video of chat logs which do not provide additional context. In spite of Ezcha censoring his own personal information from this video, the faces and contact information of the alleged victim and her friends whose pictures she had posted in the group chat remained uncensored. This shows just how quickly and carelessly this document was put together and questions whether Ezcha was actually publishing this document to protect these people or to slander spacebuilder's reputation.

(Note that these pictures were censored by us and not the accusers)

A Conclusion

A message from spacebuilder

The past four days have been incredibly stressful and demanding, and although the initial accusations were false and retracted, my reputation will not recover easily from this. That said, the response of others from the original document made it clear that, while I am neither a predator nor a pedophile, I have behaved incredibly irresponsibly in the past and my conduct has been unacceptable for somebody in this position of authority.

I have been actively seeking and receiving support for many of the issues I am currently struggling with as has been mentioned in this document, and despite this information becoming public only four days ago, the main incident happened over four months ago and I have been in therapy for three months now, and the other screenshots provided in the original document were close to two and three years old, and my crass remarks have lessened in frequency and severity to almost non-existence since then.

This is an awful situation for everybody involved, and I do not believe there is a person left that feels like they have left this situation with any semblance of satisfaction. I know that I had to respond to the allegations put against me, however this involved diving into deeply personal and traumatic experiences and debilitating personal issues that I have, which are not things that I ever wanted to make public, and shouldn't have had to if this was conducted appropriately and with care.

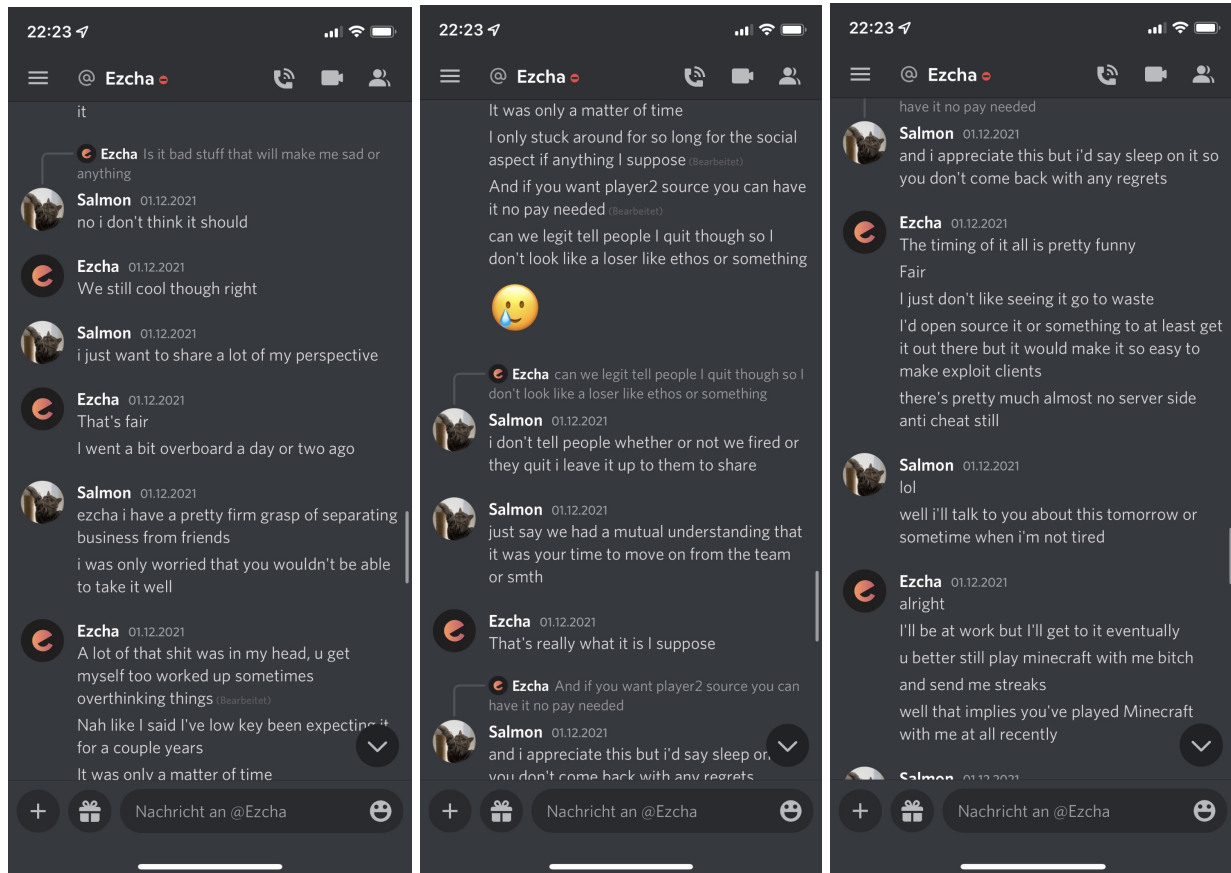

I am sorry to everybody involved. I have given personal apologies and further details to those explicitly involved in this and who have been harmed by my inconsiderate behaviour, and I want to make it clear that I want to believe that everybody involved in the publishing of the original document was simply acting with the impression that they were doing the morally responsible thing and protecting a community and platform of hundreds of thousands of users.

Following this, I will remain in therapy and medicated to continue to improve my mental health, and I will take this as a very hard-learned lesson for my ignorance towards my own actions and how those actions were affecting others and putting people at risk and in uncomfortable situations. I am glad that throughout this difficult time I have been able to look critically at my own behaviour in such a way that I hadn't before.
